Crops in District Suffering From Heat; Rain Needed

It is needless to say that a continuation of the heat wave that has hit this part of the province during the past week will rob an expected bumper yield of several bushels per acre of wheat and barley. For the past few days, crops will suffer considerably more the temperature has continued to remain around the ninety mark, with a hot wind blowing most of the time.

With record rainfall already recorded this year, indications early in July were for a bumper crop, but unless rain is forthcoming in the next few days, crops will suffer considerably. Although some of the better fields will almost guarantee a return of about twenty-five bushels to the acre, other fields are already beginning to burn or ripen too fast, which in the latter case will not allow for full development and filling. At this time of year rains are always beneficial, but more so this year, because with one or two rains between now and harvest, a yield of up to forty bushels will be returned.

In the immediate vicinity of Bassano some of the crops are suffering, and unless they receive rain in the next few days, it is difficult to estimate just what damage will be done. Other fields still retain their nice green color and will be able to withstand the heat for a week or so, but a good rain right now would result in a lot of anxiety. In outlying points prospect still remains good, but in all cases rain is badly needed.

This district so far has escaped all damage from hail, and very little damage was done by grasshoppers or other insects. South of the Bow River the hoppers are reported to be exceptionally numerous and are stripping the grain of alfalfa. While not doing a great deal of damage to the feed itself, and possibly not interfering with the yield, these blades are however very beneficial at this time of the year, as they shade the ground, which helps to reserve the moisture and at the same time, act as a feeder to the main stem in gathering moisture and strength, and transporting it to the seed.

Business men in town, while they look towards harvest with a certain amount of optimism, state that business generally is pretty much at a standstill. Everyone is putting off any unnecessary purchases until the crop now in the field is materialized. After ten years of repeated fail-

BOAT RECOVERED FROM

The body of Charlie Hagley, Calgary oil man, working on the Anadarko Oil well at Strevell, was reclaimed from the waters of the Bow River Sunday night.

Mr. Hagley was drowned recently while bathing in the waters of the river. Two companions, also employed at the oil well, were with him at the time, but were unable to save the drowning man.

Rescue parties have laboured continuously since the body first went down, but due to the swift water and the strong wind, work was difficult.

A resolution was passed to loan the local Boy Scout Troop a sum of money, if found necessary, to enable them to hold their annual camp this year. The money is to be repaid when the troop receives its grant from Military District No. 13.

The executive committee were requested to investigate the possibility of installing power ventilators in the local curling rink.

The financial statement of the Board was read and found to be quite pleasing. It will be published in local curling rink.

It was decided that meetings during the part of September would be cancelled, and the next regular meeting will be held on Wednesday, August 30th.

Bd. of Trade Hear Finances in Good Shape

The first regular meeting of the Bassano Board of Trade since the first of July Celebration, was held in the Royal Cafe on Wednesday afternoon of this week. Fifteen members were present, and President Wm. McLea occupied the chair.

Reports of the Public Affairs, Swimming Pool, Dance Committee and Secretary-Treasurer were read and adopted.

V. J. Redmond was appointed to the membership committee. At present, the Board only has a paid-up membership of 25, as compared to approximately 70 last year. Members are requested to run in their dues to Mr. Redmond as early as possible.

A resolution was passed, giving the executive power to act with regard to the new booths at the sports grounds, and changing the roof of the refreshment booth. They will also inquire into the possibility of placing the booths on a more secure foundation than they are at present.

The Property Committee of the Board were instructed to gather all property belonging to the Board and place it in the rear of Wm. McLea's office.

An invitation from the Gem Stampede committee was read, and the Board resolved to co-operate with the Gem Committee through its individual members to the fullest extent.

Wm. McLea reported for the executive, stating that a new Public Affairs Committee had been appointed, and agreed to act. The committee are consisted of J. Sharnock, chairman, A. I. Young and N.E. Hinton.

Considerable road work in the town has been undertaken by the new committee. The street from the Royal Bank corner to the Post Office has been cleared, as well as the street from the Texaco Garage corner to the Town Hall. Main street was scarified and graded, and the avenue graded from the highway to the local streets were also repaired. First avenue was repaired, graded and gravelled.

A resolution was passed to loan the local Boy Scout Troop a sum of money, if found necessary, to enable them to hold their annual camp this year. The money is to be repaid when the troop receives its grant from Military District No. 13.

Bassano Wins Over Makepeace

Showing exceptionally fine form, Charlie Connolly, Bassano midget, retired no less than 15 batters to pace a local team to victory over Makepeace at the Backwaters on Sunday. The score remained tied at 1-1 for three innings, till a Bassano barrage of the big bats sent the locals to a 4-1 lead. The Makepeace boys settled down to give Pitcher and his team a hard time, making many sensational catches. Pitcher and Sandquist proved to be a big stumbling block to the locals, making many sensational catches. The locals, definitely lacking in practice, played good baseball and earned the game.

All Roads Lead To Gem, Aug. 2 For Celebration

All is nearly in readiness for the Big Stampede and Celebration to be held in Gem on Wednesday of next week, August 2nd, according to reports being sent into Bassano this week.

This year's celebration will consist of a number of the actual stampede, with its thrills and spills will provide a major portion of the entertainment, and events in this section of the program have been considerably expanded. Not only have a few extra events been added to the program, but prize monies in most events have been increased.

Consequently the Gem Stampede this year will certainly find it worth their time and effort when final winners are announced.

Amateur events will be run off commencing at 11 a.m., and amateur events, as Hennie lf, Cathro cf, Hargrove rf, are reminded to be on hand at the start. Novelty races will prove quite a big attraction again this year.

Patrons to the stampede will also have the opportunity of witnessing a few rounds of boxing, which should provide a most interesting and a baseball game.

Refreshment and lunch booths will be installed on the grounds for the convenience of patrons, and it is understood that a mid-way and carnival will also be in operation. The carnival is a new feature of the day for people of the Gem District, and should prove to be the source of considerable amusement.

Winding up the day's activity, Le Davis and his Calgary Orchestra will play in the community hall during the evening, when all will gather to talk over the day, and enjoy a few hours of dancing. Admission to the entertainment is very reasonable, and a good time is assured.

Extra features of the day will be the draws for the Chesterfield Suite, being given away by the Gem Ladies' Club, and the pair of Quebec Mills, donated by Mr. Ryan of Gem to the Committee. Both draws will take place in the hall during the Dance. Persons desirous of obtaining tickets on either of these are advised to do so as early as possible, as tickets are going fast, and there is little left until next Wednesday.

Bassano Becoming Popular With Visiting Fishermen

Anglers in the Province of Alberta should take the tip of three Calgary businessmen, who have fished in every recognized stream of the province. Three men like A. G. Hagen, R. J. Shorrock, and A. L. Hamilton, all of Calgary, declare that the Bassano area is the proverbial "Fisherman's Paradise." It is certainly worthy of note, that a well known fact that the waters of the Bow, about the R.I.D. dam, abound in many species of fish, but never have outsiders been so generous with compliments on this paradise.

Situated only five miles from the town the dam is easily accessible. The best spots now to be along the east pier, immediately below the falls, although the tri-had—considerable luck on the west side of the dam.

A well known local sportsman, Mr. L. Y. Bernis, accompanied the men, providing invaluable information, and a boat, which pulled the river a bit below the dam.

It was particularly amusing to learn that they actually haggled six different varieties of fish in their two-day sojourn here. Of the number, one was a steelhead trout. However, this is not the first time a trout has been haggled from the cool waters of the river.

In the average, about two are caught annually. A rainbow trout was landed a year or so ago. The pike, pickerel, and other game fish are also plentifully well developed according to the men. Of course, the average year will remain very catch so far has only been five, but so far forget—the sucker. These gentlemen however, assured the reporter they had not resorted to "sucker-baiting" with such good game to be had.

Mr. Shorrock, a recognized authority on the Bassano district, especially around the dam, abundant in a greater variety of fish than any other one place in Alberta. Local sportsmen have found this true, and many a table has had fish on the menu this year. Mr. Shorrock also stated that he was surprised to see so many schools of fishes.

Mr. Hagen, a very extensive fisherman, having tried his luck in many waters both in Western Canada and United States, was so enthusiastic that he used the angler's slang to describe the real McCoy, "It is a paradise."

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir:

Will you please allow me a little space to say, thank you, Mr. Hagen, Bassano residents who so generously assisted us in "recapturing" "Buster" the seal last week.

Everybody was so generous with their help that it would be impossible to mention all the names but we are especially grateful to Mr. Hagen and the E. L. L. staff who gave at both small times and sleep to help.

As you know the Calgary Zoo is open every day of the year, free of charge and I hope Bassano residents will feel they are especially welcome.

Fruit Harvest commencing at Horticultural Station, Brooks.

The first fruit of the season is being harvested at the Horticultural Station at Brooks. Strawberries have been ripening for some time and according to the yields received there is no doubt that this year's crop is unusually early. Strawberries have been ripening for some time and according to the yields received there is no doubt that this year's crop is unusually early. Strawberries have been ripening for some time and according to the yields received there is no doubt that this year's crop is unusually early.

Raspberries are just beginning to ripen. "Latham" ripened first this year while the variety "Glen" has proven to be especially hardy.

The brilliant red clusters of ripe Nanking cherries are attracting much attention. This fruit is one of the most popular on the farm, and promises to become more generally used in the home orchards.

The Saskatoon hedges and shelters are yielding well. The white Saskatoon which are always or special interest to visitors have produced heavy crops this year.

The net crop gives promise of being the heaviest in the history of the Station, providing losses from hail or other unforeseen causes do not occur.

THE FARM WATER SUPPLY

An average farm family and 25 head of live stock require more than two tons of water per day. If this water is obtained from a well or cistern, the problem of pumping it is of considerable importance.

On many farms the source of the water is at some distance from the house, and the task of keeping the house supplied is one of the main chores.

There are a number of inexpensive methods of bringing water to the house. A supply tank can be constructed from which the water will flow by gravity to the faucets or a pressure tank can be obtained to force water into the house.

Some source of power is required. Where an engine is used, it is a comparatively simple matter to build a storage tank in the attic and pump water into it. From this point the water may be piped to the kitchen and bathroom. On many farms the windmill is used to pump water, and the resourceful farmer can easily devise ways and means of putting water into the house using the wind's power. Elaborate faucets and fixtures are unnecessary, but the presence of water in the house is not only a great labour saver, but will promote health and comfort for the entire family.

I WANT MY SON TO BE A FARMER

From O. E. Baker of the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture

I have a son now six years old and I hope when he grows up that he will decide to be a farmer. We also have three daughters, and we hope that when they grow up they will marry farmers. It is not because I think farmers and farm women in the future are going to become rich and have an easy life, although I look for some improvement in the next ten or twenty years.

I want our boy to be a farmer and live in what is called an hereditary home, to which his sisters can return in times of depression, should they marry city men, because—

1. The farmer has more and better food to eat than most city people, and in times of dearth he is more certain of a livelihood—if he has not mortgaged the farm.

2. The farmer has better health than city men and lives longer—about five years longer, according to a recent study of a life insurance company.

3. The farmer accumulates more property—becomes a wealthier man than the average city person. Millions of city people have almost no property at all—except an automobile. Wealth in the city is probably four or five times more concentrated than in the rural territory.

4. The farmer is more likely to enjoy his work than most city people. Most city work is monotonous—feeding a machine in a factory, operating

The Poet's Corner

There are moments of life that we forget, Which lighten and brighten as time steals away:

They give a new charm to the happiest lot, And they shine just because of the friends we have made.

And the things that in common we share, We want to live on, not because of ourselves.

But because of the people who care; It's giving and doing for somebody else.

On which all life's splendor depends, And the joy of this world, when you've summed it all up, Is found in the making of friends.

THESE ARE THE THINGS

These are the things I hold of precious worth, Dearer than all the mined gold of earth.

The slow clear ringing of the sap in Spring, October's soft and gracious winnowing.

The stripped meadows in the drowsy noon, The far-off lonely crying of a lone.

The cadence of a voice, the sound of words, The mystery behind the flight of birds.

Leture to think without a sense of strain, To let the winds of peace blow through your brain.

Until the worn-out tired cells revive And every nerve is glowing and alive.

These are the things that count,—a window high Where you can feel the nearness of the sky.

Leture to dream, to pause in life's mad rush, Drink to the well of silence, feel the hush.

Of dreams and memories afar from earth, These are the things I hold of precious worth.

a typewriter, standing behind a counter in a retail store hour after hour.

The farmer is more likely to rear a family and do his part to promote the welfare of the nation and the race. The family is becoming smaller and weaker in the cities. Only two-thirds enough children are now being born in our cities to maintain their population permanently.

The conditions of living and the philosophy of life in the cities tend towards extinction. The rural philosophy of life with its recognition of the family as the fundamental economic as well as social institution, tends towards survival. The urban philosophy is ephemeral; the race of the race down through the ages. A civilization to be permanent must be based primarily on agriculture, or on some other culture in which the family is the economic unit.

BOB BURNS MEETS ENGLISH RADIO TEAM

Ben Lyon and Bebe Daniels, No. 1 radio team in the British Isles, now on a visit to Hollywood, dropped in on the Kraft Music Hall last week to see how radio is done in the United States. After the broadcast, Bob Burns and Miss Daniels talked for thirty minutes about radio. During the conversation, Bob told Miss Daniels that he was invited to a party at Beverly Hills, but he did not know the address of his host. Bob knows very few addresses he explained, and when he is invited to a party, he drives around the neighborhood until he sees automobiles crowded around a house. Then he knows that is the address of the party. Miss Daniels told Bob that she had also used that system. In locating a few parties some years ago when she was a Hollywood actress.

res. She reminded Burns, however, that the system is not infallible, and eventually will lead him into embarrassing moments. Lyon and Miss Daniels often went to the wrong party when they stopped at houses where there was a line of automobiles. Occasionally, they stayed at the party for thirty minutes before discovering they were in the wrong house. "That's never bothered me," said Bob. "I've always had a good time anyway."

The SNAPSHOT GUILD CHOOSING THE NEW CAMERA

For sharp pictures of fast-moving vacation-time games, you'll need a camera with high shutter speeds. A fast lens is helpful, too, when light conditions are adverse.

ABOUT this time of year—and especially with vacations in the offing—many of us feel the need of a fine camera, with greater picture-taking ability.

A fine camera is about as easy to operate as any other, once you are familiar with it. But there is a difference in usefulness between the fine camera and the inexpensive model. Under adverse conditions, especially on dull days or with moving subjects, the inexpensive camera is handicapped. It may fail to take very picture you want most. But under the same conditions, the fine camera performs capably—insuring good pictures within much wider limits.

In choosing your fine camera, consider these points carefully, so that you can select a model which exactly fits your picture-taking needs:

If you want to be able to take pictures outdoors under all daylight conditions, bright or dull, early morning or late afternoon, choose a camera with a fast lens—an f4.5, f4.5 or faster. For night snapshots by ordinary electric light, without "flood" lamps, get a camera with f2.8 lens. If "flood" lamps are used, a slower lens will do.

If you want to take pictures of moving subjects—or those likely to move—choose a camera which has a precision shutter with high speeds. A shutter speed of 1/100 or 1/200 second is needed for sports and fast action shots; 1/300 for moderate action; and 1/100 for steps of slow action or subjects such as babies or pets which may move suddenly and unexpectedly.

Some camera shutters now have built-in self-timer devices, which enable you to appear in pictures taken by yourself. Naturally, the self-timer is an advantage in a vacation or family camera.

Now for picture size. If you expect to have your pictures finished as contact prints for album use, don't choose a camera that takes too small a picture. If, however, you plan to make enlargements, it's safe to pick a camera in the "miniature" group. And, if you want to take full-size projection on a home screen, a miniature camera is just what you need.

It's wise to obtain your fine camera well in advance of your vacation, and practice using it. Since these fine cameras are precision instruments, see that you receive proper care. If treated well, such a camera will give long and meritorious service—service that far outweighs its cost. Just ask the camera hobbyist who owns one!

WEDDINGS

THEW—SQUIRES

At San Rafael, California, on June 25th, baskets of Gladoli decorated the front part of the Methodist Church for the wedding of Miss Lucille Squires and Chester F. Thew. Old fashioned bouquets marked the pews.

Officiating at the ceremony which took place at 3 p.m., was the Rev.
Andrew Juvinall.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father, wore a blue chif-fon afternoon gown. The sleeves were short and puffed, and the bodice was shirred; the skirt full.

She wore a white hat with a blue veil and her corsage was of Gardenias
Miss Pauline Jones, of San Rafael,
the maid of honor, wore pink, a chif-fon redingote over mink. Her hat was white. Howard B. Nichols of Hamilton Falls was best man.

A reception attended by 135 guests took place at the log cabin in San Anselmo. The brides' table was garlanded with gladioli. Guests were seated at long tables, flower decorated.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

OUTDOORS AT NIGHT

Flash bulbs make outdoor snaps possible at night, even with slow lens cameras. Here, lantern provided atmosphere, but flash bulb, held above camera, supplied light needed for detail in subject.

UNTIL a few years ago, snapshots outdoors at night were rather hard to make. Now, thanks to extra high speed film, thousands of snapshooters take them. The fast film plus a fast lens is sufficient for brightly-lighted street scenes and food-lighted buildings.

For outdoor pictures of people at night, all one needs is a camera that can be set for a time exposure, and a "flash" bulb by its inexpensive flashlight-type holder.

To take such pictures, simply place the camera on a firm support, and set the shutter for "time." Position
the subject in front of the camera, click the shutter open, flash the bulb and close the shutter. If the surroundings are dark and there are no lights within the view of the lens,
the camera may be held in the hand.

For flash pictures, the camera can be loaded either with regular "chrome type" film or one of the pachromatic films. The distance between the flash bulb and the subject determines the size lens opening you should use.

Here are suggested distances from bulb to subject, outdoors, when you use a No. 10-line bulb with the metal reflector that is a part of the small battery operated holder: for "chrome" type film, 2 feet; for high speed film, 14 feet. These distances will provide correct exposure when you use a box camera, or a camera with anamorphic lens set at f16.
Correct distance from light to subject is important; but distance from camera to subject doesn't matter, as far as illumination is concerned.

Reversal of the special small flash
bulbs can be carried in an overcoat pocket. These are convenient to carry on a hike. They can be used for box-camera pictures if high speed film is employed—but, of course,
since the small bulb yields less light
than a large bulb, it must be placed nearer the subject.

With flash bulbs, you can picture winter sports subjects at night, and other outdoor activities, though without a special flash bulb synchronizer, do not attempt to "stop"
very rapid action. Interesting lighting effects can be obtained by flashing the bulb from unusual positions
—for example, holding it low to obtain a lighting angle which suggests sleight.

With time exposures, excellent pictures can be obtained of campfire scenes at the shining risk or pond.
Campfire "time" exposures can be made without using a flash bulb—or,
the bulb can be flashed just at the end of the exposure, to obtain added detail in the scene. For true sleight pictures, the high speed pachromatic films are best.

Take your camera along whenever you go on a skating or sleighing excursion, or moonlight hike. A few flash bulbs enable you to use the cameras—and "flash" pictures are always unusual and interesting.

225 John Van Guilder

As both the bride and bridegroom
are members of the "Rainbow Buckaroos", she as a soloist, he as a trumpeter, the "Buckaroos" played during the afternoon and the bride sang "I Love You Truly" while the groom played the accompaniment.

The bride is the only child of Mr.
and Mrs. Monroe Squires of San Rafael, Calif., and the groom the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Thew of Dorothy, Alta.

The young couple will make their home in San Raf. Cal.

CARY—COLE

Summer flowers and pale blue and white streamers were used as decorations for the wedding at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Cole of Carle-land, on July 26th, when their second daughter, Mary Josephine, was united in marriage to Floyd Cary, only son of Mrs. Cary, of Calgary, and the late Mr. Norman Cary, of Bassano.

Rev. V. M. Gilbert of Strathmore officiated.

The bride, who is a graduate of the Holy Cross Hospital, entered the m in the arm of her father, to the strains of the bridal chorus, played by her sister, Mrs. J. A. Spanke. Her dress was of turquoise blue net over taffeta, made with full skirt and taffeta bolero. Her short blue veil was held in place by tiny white daisies, and her net mitts and slippers were white. She carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Miss Frances Cole was her sister's only attendant, while Mr. Jack Cole was groomsmen.

After the ceremony a wedding supper was served to immediate relatives.
 Later the couple motored to Calgary
 to take the evening train for a short honeymoon in B.C.

For travelling the bride wore a black suit with Japonica accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Cary will make their home in Bassano.

Kind Words

Winnipeg—In the opinion of W. W.
 Barnham, Toronto business executive,
 "The west will lead Canada back to prosperity within the next 12 months."

Speaking of the results of a bumper crop in the west, Mr. Barnham declared that "The west is always the Moses that leads the people of Canada
 out of the wilderness of bad times."

POOR ADVERTISING Is Worse Than None

—BUT—
ANY FORM OF ADVERTISING
MUST BE VERY, VERY POOR
TO BE WORSE THAN NONE!

Take for example the mimeographed sheet,
which probably is advertising in one of its poorest and most unattractive forms. It is hard to read, unattractive to the eye, lacks contrast and lacks dignity, but we claim that it is better than none.

We sell printed advertising that is easy to read,
and is well displayed to make it pleasing to the eye.
We can sell you neatly printed advertising either through the newspaper columns, or printed for direct-by-mail or house-to-house distribution. Make your own choice when you buy from us; but we recommend newspaper advertising as the most effective form of advertising that you can buy for the money.

It is easy to read, pleasing to the eye, is placed in a medium which is welcome in the home, and no other form can be more convenient to your prospective customer, or client, or patient, or patron—
call him what you may. That is why newspaper space is the dependable stand-by of all large buyers of advertising.

Championship Fight Held Once In Bassano

By Harry Scott, Sport Editor of the Calgary Albertan. In the issue of July 27th, 1933.

At the request of Billy Stiles of Bassano, I am relating a few facts about the Joe Bayley-Billy Allen lightweight championship fight that was staged by Promoter Tommy Burns, ex-world's heavy-weight champion, at Bassano on the night of June 27, 1912.

The contest staged in an open air arena in the heart of the "Dum City" attracted 2,500 paid customers. Bayley who hailed from Victoria, B.C., was 22 years of age, weighed in at 130 pounds, while Allen, of Ottawa, 25 years of age, weighed in at 125 pounds. The bout went the full 15 rounds with referee Burns declaring Bayley the winner and new champion. It was a case of a clever fighter going down to defeat to a rugged brawler. The decision for Bayley met with the hearty approval of the fans. At the time this bout was the most important ever promoted in the Dominion, and turned out to be one of the most interesting. Allen had the better of the affair up to the 10th round. He had Bayley's face puffed and bruised before the 6th round. Bayley, however, content to play for his opponents' body, gradually wore Allen down and from the 10th round on had the Ottawa fighter on the run. He was all over Allen in the 15th, and scored the only knockdown of the night, Allen taking the count of nine.

On that day, Bassano was a miniature goldfield, as shell and con games were in progress throughout the afternoon. A special train carried most of the Calgary fans, arriving well in the afternoon, while another contingent of enthusiasts arrived on the regular train at 5 p.m.

Fred Oliver and Cyclone Scott were Bayley's seconds, while Kid Lucas, then of Seattle, but now a Calgary city fireman was in Allen's corner. The same gloves that Jack Johnson and Tommy Burns used in their Australian heavyweight championship fight were worn. The air was cool with conditions satisfactory.

I have recalled the most important features of the scrap which I hope will satisfy Mr. Stiles and prove interesting reading for followers of this column. The Recorder would be pleased to hear from any persons still residing in the district, who were present at the above mentioned world championship fight.

Not Improbable

Ottawa—Completion this year of the Big Bend link in the British Columbia section of the Trans-Canada highway will make possible importing from the Pacific coast to Port Arthur. According to government reports, it is hoped that, in another two years, the highway will be completed from Cape Breton to Vancouver.

Rest Assured

Vancouver—Here on an inspection tour of British Columbia's defence works, Hon. Ian Mackenzie declared that Vancouver and Victoria will be among the best defended cities in the world by 1940.

Approximately 60 per cent of the Pacific Coast defence program has been carried out, stated the defence minister, and in completing the remainder $1,700,000 will be spent in addition to this year's allotment.

Laber Trouble

Regina—Plans to enforce a $700 minimum for Saskatchewan school teachers were submitted to a recent meeting of the Saskatchewan Teacher's Federation.

Under the plan, teachers receiving less than $700 per year for their services would be promised to write to their school board and ask for that salary or as an alternative to resign. Statutory minimum salary for Alberta teachers is $533 per annum.
